What About Social Credit in Canada?

This series is an explanation of the Douglas Social Credit Plan. Mr. Williams, (W.) a Social Credit advocate, is explaining the plan to his friend, Mr. Jones (J.) The scene is Mr. Williams' home, and the conversation takes place during an evening visit.

By following this series to the conclusion the reader will clearly understand the problem which faces Canada.

NUMBER 1

W. "Well, here is some more evidence that supports my contention that banks do not lend money. Listen to what the Right Honorable Reginald McKenna, Chairman of the Midland Bank, England, says: 'I am afraid that the ordinary citizen will not like to be told that the banks can, and do create and destroy money. The amount of money in existence varies only with the action of the banks in increasing and decreasing deposits. Every loan overdraft, or bank purchase creates a deposit, and every repayment of a loan, overdraft, or bank sale destroys a deposit.' J. M. Keynes says, 'There can be no doubt that all deposits are created by the banks.' Hartley Withers (and you can't accuse him of being morthodox in financial matters) says: 'A credit in the Bank of England's books is regarded by the financial community as real cash' and this pleasant fiction has given the Bank the power of creating cash by a stroke of the pen and to any extent that it pleases, subject only to its own view as to what is prudent and sound business.

You may not consider Professor Soddy is an authority in this line but at least he is worth quoting. He says: 'Is it possible in these days of disbelief in physical miracles really to caricature institutions which pretend to lend money and do not lend it, but create it? And when it is repaid they de-create it? And who have achieved the physically impossible miracle thereby, not only getting something for nothing, but also of getting perennial interest from it?' Of course Professor Soddy is a physicist of Oxford University, and not a banker.

J. "If this is true, how long has it been generally known?" W. "It has never been generally known. Students of finance and banking have known it and accepted it as a common place fact for years as witness this extract from H. D. McLeod's book, 'The Theory and Practice of Banking, which was written years ago and used as a text book for young bankers. He wrote: 'The essential and distinctive feature of a bank and a banker is to create and issue credit payable on demand, and this credit is intended to be put into circulation and serve all the purposes of money. A bank therefore is not an office for the borrowing and lending of money, but it is a manufacture of credit. In the language of banking, a deposit and an issue are the same thing.' And here is another paragraph from the same book: 'It is commonly supposed that a banker's profit consists in the difference between the interest he pays for the money he borrows, and the interest he charges for the money he lends. The fact is that a banker's profit consists exclusively in the profits he can make by creating & issuing credit in excess of the specie he holds in reserve. A bank which issues credit only in exchange for money, never made and can by no possibility make, profits. It only begins to make profits when it creates and is-

News Notes

Frank Shaw was sick for a couple of days this week, and had to be away from the store.

"Goldiggers of 1933 Capitol March 19th, 20th, and 21st. Get ready for 'Sitting Pretty' at the Capitol Tonight.

N. S. Forsythe spent Sunday in Cardston with his family returning to Raymond Sunday evening to continue his work on the new business block.

Hall's Barber Shop was broken into Monday night, and clippers, combs, brushes, etc., and lines that are only useful in a barber shop were stolen. No arrests have been made, but the officers are working on several clues. Two front windows were broken in getting in, and the window frame whittled partly away, probably expecting to remove the glass without breaking it.

sues credit in exchange for debts payable at a future time."

J. "Well are you sure that this is accepted by orthodox authorities?"

W. "That is just what I have been quoting—orthodox authorities and practical bankers. I have purposely refrained from quoting Major Douglas or any Social Credit writer. But listen—you know the MacMillan Commission. Not the Canadian Commission but the larger body that sat in London a couple of years ago? Well, it had bank directors and prominent financial experts among its members. Listen to their report, 'It is not unnatural to think of the deposit of a bank as being created by the public, through the deposit of cash representing either savings or amounts which are not for the time being required to meet expenditure. But the bulk of the deposits arise out of the actions of the banks themselves, for by granting loans, allowing money to be drawn on an overdraft, or purchasing securities a bank creates a credit in its books, which is the equivalent of a deposit.'"

J. "Well, for Pete's sake! I thought that a bank was a place where people took any spare cash and left it on deposit in a savings account and then the bank used these deposits to lend to producers to finance their operations. The difference between what the bank paid as interest on the savings deposit and what it received from the borrower. I took to be the source of the profit. This is certainly a revelation to me. But that is all about the British system. Are you sure that Canadian banking is like that?"

W. "I have been wondering if you would ask that, and that is why I have been digging around these shelves looking for the little book. It was written by Professor MacGibbon of the University of Alberta. It is dated 1924. He says: 'As a matter of fact, banks do not lend money to their customers but a substitute, the bank's own credit.' Now I admit that I have not quoted as many authorities in Canada. The reason is that there have been fewer books published in Canada on the subject of banking."

Union Jacks Win To Force Playoffs

The high hopes of Lethbridge Young Liberals for a Provincial Basketball crown for 1934 received a setback on Saturday night last, as the fighting Union Jacks, playing before a crowd of 800 or more excited and cheering fans, took the last game of the intra-city senior league, to tie up the series at nine wins a piece for the Liberals and the Jacks.

It is doubtful if there has ever been a game here which aroused the general interest and enthusiasm that this one did. Nearly 400 Reserved seats were all gone, and hundreds of requests for more, were sent in before 24 hours after the seat sale opened. The management erected extra bleachers on the stage where 400 or so found accommodation, and the standing room was practically all taken up, and while more could be taken care of, still it is no false statement to say that the large Opera House was full, in fact very full.

IDLERS BEAT TABER

In a fast and interesting preliminary, the Idlers defeated the Taber Intermediates by a score 45-35, in a game in which the score saw-sawed back and forth several times, and it kept the locals going all the time to secure the decision.

During the early part of the second half, Bruce Galbraith, lanky centre of the Idlers sprained his ankle and had to retire from the game, and is still limping around.

Lloyd Dahl and Easthope of Taber had the whistles in this game, and gave general satisfaction, although the game got pretty rough in places, and savored more of the rough and tumble than it did of scientific basketball.

CROWD CHEERS AS SENIOR TEAMS APPEAR

Preceding the warm-up period, the two senior teams came on to the floor, together from opposite sides of the house, and met in the center of the hall, when the Union Jacks was unfurled while the band played God Save the King, and the crowd remained in reverent silence. This ceremony, and the preliminary game put the crowd in just the proper mood for an exciting game between the rivals and from the opening whistle there was a continuous medley of cheers, encouragement, and chatter, and at times in the most exciting periods, it was a veritable roar as eight hundred good lungs and husky voices broke in. It was a hard game on the nerves.

Il. Baden-Powell and Jimmie Taylor, both of Calgary, had been secured by the Provincial A.A.A. to handle the game, and they held the battle well in hand, and made the boys play real basketball, so that while the game was fast and furious, it was never rough, and was very nice to watch.

A broad casting room had been fitted up on the stage, and two assistants let the world know what was going on, and according to many reports it was well received, and the crowd knew, by the noise and cheering, every time a point had been scored.

KIRKHAM IS HIGH MAN AND OPENS SCORING

Shortly after the opening whistle Kirkham scored a nice one, culminating some swift passing, and then Fairbanks sank two foul shots and Nilsson one, to make the score 5-0, before Sinclair and Keel of Lethbridge sunk a couple of field shots to make the count 5-4. From then on it was a case of tit-for-tat nearly all the way through, one team scoring, and then the other, and the biggest spread in their standing was about half way through the second half when the Jacks had an 8 point lead with the score 24-16.

With the first half nearly finished "Smiling" Sam Fairbanks was put off for his quota of fouls, and Raymond had a shock, because O'Brien Kirkham and Fairbanks make a great team on the front end, and when they are not all three there there is usually a little disorganization. This was not the case however Saturday night. Haggue who was sent in to relieve, fell right in with the rest, played bang-up ball, and the bitter fight went on. Kirkham was high man for the evening with 14 points, while Sinclair was right behind him with 12. O'Brien, who was suffering from a heavy cold, played a great game on the floor, but was off in his shooting, missing quite a number of shots, which usually would have been sure counters.

To pick out any outstanding players in a game like Saturday night would be impossible, and decidedly unfair. Every man played his position beautifully, and the checking on both sides was so close and persistent, that several times, when a player hesitated a second too long to make a shot, he

Town Council In Regular Session

News Notes

Meet me at The Capitol Tonight. Two fine features.

George Ralph was kept home a couple of days this week with a bad cold.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Taylor made a trip to Milk River and Coultis on Monday, taking missionaries down to that part of the Stake for a months work. Among the gospelarians were Robt. and Rosa Salmon.

Gordon and Jetta Rasmussen, and Allan Watson motored to Calgary for a visit over the week-end. While there they visited Wayne Hawk, who is studying Electric Welding at the Teck.

would discover the gibbon down at the other end of the hall and in possession of the opposition.

It takes five men to make a ball team, and they all can't be shooting continually at the basket, as some one has to stand guard, and it is a credit to the sportsmanship of the players who go on game after game, rarely breaking into the scoring column, seldom mentioned in write-ups, hearing their teammates praised and lauded to the skies with nothing for them, that they still keep on playing, put their very best into every game, and frequently feed to the other men, who get high scores, when if they practised even a little selfishness, they themselves might be covered with glory occasionally. We take off our hats to the men who play guard, and do it so effectively, and never worry about the publicity of their team mates, so long as a good game is turned in and everyone does his share.

Through co-operation of the R.A.A. and the Capitol management, some very nice score cards were passed out at the game, so that everyone could follow the progress of the game, and know just how the teams stood.

The lineup and score was as follows:

LIBERALS; Keel c, 5; Sinclair g&f, 12; Howard, f, 3; Turner, f, 10; Dmllop, g, 0; Mitchell, g, 2; McMillan, f, 0; Radley g, 0. TOTAL 32.

JACKS; Fairbanks, c, 3; Kirkham, f, 14; O'Brien, f, 5; Nilsson g & c, 6; Rolfson, g, 2; Haggue, f, 4; Nalder, f, 0; West, f, 0; Cooper, g, 0; TOTAL 34.

Wonderful Ball Handling Will be Seen Next Monday Night

Above are pictured the members of Olson's Terrible Swedes Basketball team, who appear here Monday night against the Jacks, and whose passing and ball handling, according to reports is simply wonderful. They have won 120 games out of 128 starts in this tour, and Ray Woolf says Monday night will be another loss for them. At any rate the Jacks will put up a good fight, and while play ing should be able to pick up some new ideas and pointers that will help their play. Tickets are the usual price and have been selling good, people showing a lot of interest in the game.

The regular Town Council meeting was held Thursday night, and the usual routine business attended, and the payroll passed. Special business decided on included the following items.

The School Budget was passed at practically the same figures as last year, without any increases in salaries for the coming year.

The Town Budget was also passed at the same mill rate as last year, and Tax Notices will soon be going out for Town Taxes.

The ratepayers on the street running east from Broadway past Arthur Dahl's home had petitioned for water line, and the Council granted the petition, the town to run the line past the properties on the street, and owners to hook up at the fixed water frontage rates.

Street lights were ordered placed on the corner by the T. George Wood, home and the L. D. King home to illuminate the town better at night.

The drain from the Owen Lee home, which has caused a lot of worry and inconvenience in the past will be fixed to run west, the culverts and bridges will be lowered, and the Council hope that this will remedy this trouble for good and all.

ROMERIL RE-ELECTED

In the election for Municipal Councillor held at the Town Hall on Saturday last, F. W. Romeril, retiring member was re-elected, polling 49 votes to 22 votes cast for Wm. W. Wilde.

The list was small, being restricted to those farmers who pay taxes within a certain part of the Raymond district. W. G. Meeks was the Returning Officer.

Do not miss the double feature program playing at the Capitol Friday and Saturday, "Sitting Pretty" and "The Face in the Sky."

TOLLESTRUP — ODENARD

The marriage of Marion, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Tollestrup and Julie, the daughter of Mrs. Odenard, both families of Raymond was solemnized Tuesday evening of this week in Lethbridge with Bishop Ursenbach officiating.

Both young people are well known and respected in the town, having grown up here, and they will have the best wishes of the community in their married life. They expect to make their home in Raymond.

LIBRARY REPORT

The addition of an adequate and attractive magazine rack the first of February has much improved the appearance of the library. During the month 67 books were added to the shelves 64 of these were donated by Mr. M. F. Martin of Lethbridge, others were "The King of the Castle" by Maureen Powelson; "The Princes' Story Book" and "Joyce of the North Woods", by Howard Betts. Circulation for the month amounted to 990 books; readers, 271; petty receipts were $2.98 and expenditures 70c. The decreased circulation was due to the short month and also because of being unable to open on time three different days.

LESS LICENSE
MORE GAS TAX

Despite the fact the Provincial Government turned down the plea for a change in license year of motor vehicles, we are still of the very decided opinion that the idea is a good one, and that car owners of the province should not rest until this thing is adjusted in some way, this instead of being induced to hoard the car, and only use it for a few months each year, people should be induced to use their cars more, and especially in the winter months.

The Government claimed that it would cost them $225,000 if they changed the license year this year. Maybe so, and maybe they will lose another $225,000 because they didn't in the large number of cars still in the garages, and many of them that will remain there until the first of July, when the next discounts take effect.

And when it is said and done, the license is about four times as high as it should be for the people who only use their cars once or twice a week and mostly for pleasure at that. We are not against the registration of motor vehicles. This is very essential and quite the proper thing to do. But we often pull up to buy license, and pay out $15 or $20 for a license and many even more than that, and some of the cars that pay this fee, couldn't be sold for twice that amount so that in two years the owner buys his car again, this time from the government. A flat $5 fee for registration and licensing would be the thing for all of us, and the difference between this and our present fees could be made up in a gas tax, or road tax, so that the same amount annually could be collected.

Of course there would be a great deal of opposition when an increase of the gas tax was suggested, but why should there be? If a person that now pays $20 for his license, only had to pay $5 for license he would have $15 to pay for gasoline tax, and if the tax were increased 5c. per gallon, this amount would pay the tax on 60 gallons, and this is nearly as much as some drivers would use in the year. If they paid more it would be because they used the highway more, and surely no one should object to paying for services rendered and for advantages he enjoys.

Under the present system, there is no question but that the occasional motorist is paying heavily to help keep up our highways for the commercial men, the bus and the truck lines throughout the province. In a time like this, we think the burden should be equalized, and while over the period of a year, with increased gas tax, the government would probably collect more from each motorist than at present, it would be collected a few cents at a time, and would not be such a burden on the populace as the present system.

We believe that the entire field of licensing for motor vehicles may well be reexamined, and in the interest of all, an honest effort made to equalize the burden, and put the burden where it rightly belongs. We all appreciate the splendid gravelled highways we have, and we want to keep them good, and improve and enlarge this mileage. But, no one wants and it is unfair to ask it, that one class of people should contribute to excess for road building and maintenance, while another class reaps the benefit without paying proportionally for it.

We know what a storm of protest a change which would include raising the gas tax would raise in certain quarters, and we are not denying but what their burden is heavy enough now. But, if our population fails to support our present road system on a tax that is considered fair by all then we have but two alternatives, either increase our contribution to the cause, or else reduce our system to a point where we can

This would be a good thing for our law-makers to consider instead of spending so much time picking out and magnifying each others' faults, in uncomplimentary terms, so long and so loud. A little constructive discussion on some of our provincial problems, instead of so much destructive argument over things that are past and cannot be changed would make our provincial sessions look a great deal more business like and profitable to our voters at least, and everyone would feel better about it.

HEAD OFFICE MONTREAL

Commercial loans in Canada, it is sometimes suggested, have shown a declining trend through restriction of credit by the chartered banks. The truth is that more banking credit is available than those directing sound enterprises are able or willing to employ.

This bank has not in the past, and does not today, withhold credit for legitimate and sound purposes.

It has had, and it has today, ample resources from which it is prepared to make loans.

The storm Monday night and Tuesday was from the south-east, and held out unusually long for a storm from that direction. While not so very cold, it was disagreeable and stockmen, especially were glad to see it break away, so that cattle could feed again on the green grass which is starting nicely now.

Rumors are afloat that a Provincial election will be called as soon as the present session is ended, and that there will also be a general shake-up in the Cabinet. It would be hard to forecast just what swing would take place in an election, although it is almost a sure bet that the present Government would be defeated, not so much due to any outstanding fault, but because of the general condition which tend to wanting a change and trying something new.

SILENT SICKNESS

"Like a thief in the night" is a descriptive phrase which is applicable to the manner of onset of many diseases. The thief works silently, being careful not to arouse any suspicion of his presence. Silently, often without warning, comes disease. Later, usually in a catastrophic fashion, loss of health is evidenced and the presence of disease recognized.

Disease, as it is known to the public, is often the end result of preceding abnormal conditions. The damaged heart may come from rheumatic fever which occurred years before. Kidney disease may represent the results of failure to live a reasonably hygienic life. General paralysis of the insane has its beginning in a syphilitic infection.

Outstanding among our silent foes is that group of diseases to which we refer as the degenerative diseases including diseases of the heart and the kidneys, and hardening of the arteries. Unfortunately, many cases of this group are not seen until the disease is well advanced, and, by that time, the degeneration, or wearing-out of the parts, has progressed to a considerable extent.

To fight silent sickness discover it early. It is difficult for most people to grasp the idea that there may be something wrong with their bodies, when they feel no loss of health or show no signs of disease. Nevertheless it is true, as many have learned when an insurance examination has revealed unsuspected disease or some abnormal condition. The human body has great reserves, and, by calling on these reserves, the body is able to meet the demands that are placed upon it without knowing that the reserves are being exhausted.

The only practical way to meet this problem is through the periodic health examination by the family physician. A regular examination which is thorough and complete will reveal abnormalities and disease in their earliest stages, before they are suspected, at a time when proper treatment will likely eradicate or check them. The periodic health examination acts as a burglar alarm, warning of the presence of the thief of health. It acts as a searchlight, revealing the presence of silent, and consequently unsuspected sickness.

The older we grow, the more important becomes to us the periodic health examination, because silent sickness increases with the years. The younger we are, still is most important the periodic health examination because of the better chance of early detection of disease. This means that the periodic health examination is important at all ages.

Questions concerning Health, or the Canadian Medical Association, 184 Colborne Street, Toronto, Ontario, Canada, answered personally by letter.

Despite the disagreeable weather on Tuesday night, a good crowd was present at the Stake M.I.A. Road Show which was put on in the Opera House, and which included numbers from each ward in the Stake.

heat is allowed to escape by opening the sashes a little each day.

In five or six days after the soil has been added the temperature of it usually falls to somewhere between 80 and 90 degrees F., when the hotbed is ready for use. No seeding is done and no plants are put in the bed until the temperature drops to 90 or lower. A metal thermometer is used in obtaining the temperature of the soil. Another reason for delaying is to allow the weeds time to germinate so that many of these may be destroyed before seeding the vegetables and flowers.

that is cold and rotten or which has already heated. During the first week in March the manure selected is placed along side of the hotbed pit in a pile the length and width of the pit and about 3 feet high. In piling the manure is spread out in about 6-inch layers and each layer is tramped and then thoroughly sprinkled with water.

Seven to ten days after the manure has been first piled it is usually quite hot and ready to be put into the hotbed pit. The bed is started from one end and the manure shaken in from a fork so that the long and short manure are well mixed. As in piling, the manure is put into the bed in even layers and here again each layer is well tramped and thoroughly sprinkled with water. With watering added in this way and using manure with about one-third straw, heating or fermentation is slower in starting than it would be in a richer and somewhat dryer mixture, but the heat is more uniform and lasts longer. Too much straw is avoided because it heats too slowly at the start and would get too hot later on. The pit, which is a couple of feet wider on all sides than the hotbed frame, is usually filled with 12 to 15 inches of well packed manure and the hotbed frame is set on top. A six-inch layer of manure is then put in side of the frame, while the outside is well banked up with the same material.

Next the sashes are fitted on the frame. Incidentally unbleached cotton is used for most of the sash coverings here. Glass has some advantages but the cotton is very much cheaper and it has been used here for a number of years with very good results. The only danger in using this material is during very cold weather, but mats or canvas coverings have been found satisfactory in providing extra protection when needed.

Five or six days after the manure has been put in the pit the sashes are removed and the manure is tramped over to make it as level as possible and a five or six-inch layer of rich garden soil is put on top of the manure and the sashes are replaced. Later when the soil gets the hottest a little

WEEKLY LETTER

The gardener is getting the hotbeds started here this week and some notes on making a hotbed should, it is believed, provide a timely topic for this letter. A hotbed is so very easily made really and it not only provides the heat and shelter needed for starting early vegetables and flowers that are so greatly appreciated, but the use of a hotbed makes it possible to grow many plants that would not mature or flower here if started in the open.

Vegetables, including cauliflower, cabbage, celery, early head lettuce, tomatoes, peppers and others, are all started in the hotbed, while even a great number of annual flowers used for bedding purposes are started in this way. Some of these annuals include asters, snapdragons, petunias, stocks, verbena, lobelias, marigolds, larkspurs, pansies, phlox, gaillardia and clarkia, besides others.

Plans and details for making a hotbed are given in the bulletin, "The Prairie Farmer's Vegetable Garden," No. 43, N. S., and a copy of it may be obtained by writing to this Station.

Following is an outline of the method followed here in preparing the manure used for heating the hotbed.

Only quite fresh horse manure, containing about one-third straw, is used and not manure

50 YEARS A MARTYR TO CONSTIPATION

But Kellogg's ALL-BRAN Brought Welcome Relief

Read this splendid letter from Mrs. Haynes:

"For 50 years I have been a martyr to constipation. Have tried every remedy under the sun.

"One day I read an account of some one who had been relieved by ALL-BRAN, but I thought 'What was the use of me trying anything more when all else had failed?'

"A while after, I read it again. That time I thought I would try it, it would do no harm anyway.

"I began with a small dish of your ALL-BRAN for breakfast, and wonderful to say, I never need to take any physic at all now. How I wish other poor sufferers from constipation could be persuaded to try it."—Mrs. Sarah Haynes (address furnished upon request).

Tests show Kellogg's ALL-BRAN provides "bulk" and vitamin B to aid regular habits. Also iron for the blood.

This "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that in leafy vegetables. It's so much safer than taking patent medicines! Two tablespoonfuls of ALL-BRAN daily are usually sufficient. Severe cases, with each meal. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Get this delicious ready-to-eat cereal from your grocer. In the red-and-green package. Made by Kellogg in London, Ontario.

Farmers Attention!

GRASSHOPPER CAMPAIGN, 1934

Careful surveys during the fall of 1933 indicated a wide spread infestation of grasshoppers in Southern Alberta for 1934. The area affected extends from the United States border north to the Consort line of the C. P. R. and the Calgary-Three Hills-Mirror line of the C.N.R.

Meetings of Farmers

Will be held in the near future to discuss control measures for the coming spring season. Farmers in the area described are urged to watch for posters and keep in touch with their municipal organizations or with Department of Agriculture Fieldmen or with the Department at Edmonton, for information and advice

Alberta Department of Agriculture

Board of Trade Meets

The regular meeting of the Board of Trade was held in the Town Hall Monday night. There was a good attendance, expecting the announced talk of H. L. Seamans, Lethbridge, on the Grasshopper question. For some unknown reason Mr. Seamans was unable to be present, and while the meeting was keenly disappointed, still the routine business, and matters introduced during the meeting kept the Board busy until shortly after 10 p.m.

The major items discussed and passed on were: The Government policy for the exchange system was also explained and discussed, and the same decision reached as regards the wheat and other seed, orders to be handed in to the same individuals.

The road from Raymond to Welling was discussed and decided to try and have arrangements made to have this stretch maintained the same as the remainder of the highway from here to Lethbridge.

A brief from the Tradesmen of the town re transient tradesmen laboring here was presented, and the Board expressed its sympathy with the idea of protection in license or taxes for local taxpayers.

L. J. Pack spoke re-obtaining some Mongolian pheasants to release in the district, and the Board voted its approval of the scheme.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. K. L. Stone, Friday, Mar. 9 a baby girl. Mother and baby are doing nicely.

Mr. and Mrs. S. I. May and family, and Arthur Dahl spent Sunday in Cardston visiting and attending meetings there.

Coaldale has had an epidemic of safe-cracking and robbery in the past few weeks, and considerable damage has been done as well as inconvenience to the victims of the thugs.

The 20% reduction on car licenses for cars not used since January 31st becomes effective April 1st. It is likely that quite a number of cars will be put back on the roads after that date.

The first game of the playoffs between the Jacks and the Young Liberals will take place in Lethbridge on March 16th, likely in the Arena, where a floor was laid two years ago when the Jacks played the Victoria team there.

Local Hi Beats

L.C.I. by 1 Point

One of the most interesting basketball games of the season was played in the Opera House Friday night, when the local High School Comets, beat the Lethbridge Collegiate quint by a score of 48-47, in a game which see-sawed back and forth throughout the forty minutes of play, and at no time was there more than six points between the teams. In the third quarter, and again in the last quarter the visitors were able to step into the lead, but only for a few moments, and just before the final whistle, Meeks got a field basket to tie the score, Fairbanks sunk a foul to put Raymond one up, Jensen of Lethbridge got a field basket to put the Collegiate in the lead, and it took another ringer by Billy Meeks to give the locals the needed two points to win the game.

To say anything about the interest of the game would be superfluous as from the first the outcome was in doubt. Never during the present season have the teams played better basketball for a full game than was displayed Friday night, and all are agreed that either team would go a long way in a Provincial or Dominion playoff for High School honors of the Dominion.

Our boys play Magrath Friday night for the last game of the League, and then they will lay away their trunks and jerseys until next year, when it is likely that the entire lineup will be back to school, and with this year's playing experience behind them, they should be going strong when the season opens for 1934-35.

The lineup and score Friday night was as follows:—

Collegiate: — Simmons, 2; Walton, 10; Anderson; Mac-12; Hunt, 9; Jensen, 1; Wood-Intosh, 2; Hislop, 11; Nielsen, Total 47.

Comets—Meeks, 15; Redd, 9; King; Fairbanks, 12; Nalder; Shaw, 10; Blackmore, 2. Total 48.

How is your subscription?

People were here from every town and city in Southern Alberta Saturday night, one carload extra for the Basketball game coming down from Blairmore.

Ray Rodeback and A. D. Stevenson returned Sunday from a six weeks fishing trip to Chin Lake. They report a nice catch of pike and whitefish, and a very enjoyable holiday and outing.

The Alberta Budget is expected to be brought down today. It would be a great surprise if our Parliamentarians ever brought down estimates that would cover the expenditures for the year without a few leaks here and there.

A movement to open the Vermillion School of Agriculture was started Tuesday when a delegation from the Associated Boards of Trade of North-eastern Alberta waited on the Government. In our opinion, if any Schools of Agriculture are re-opened, it should be the Raymond School, as Northern Alberta has one operating now, while Southern Alberta has none, and another point is the fact that this is the only school where practical irrigation and associated subjects can be taught.

Welling News

Mrs. Vern Peterson who had an operation in Lethbridge, and Miss B. Eigard, an appendicitis patient also in Lethbridge, are home now and feeling fine. Grandpa Wilde is still in the hospital, and Mrs. Delecta Wilde was operated on Friday for appendicitis. Many are also suffering from colds.

Misses General Bullock and Beth Walker, also Glen Bullock attended the big dance in Cardston on the 24th of Feb. They reported a very good time.

Several attended the picture "Little Women" when it was playing in Lethbridge and Raymond. They all agree that it is an exceptional production. Since we hear the RKO is planning on filming Jane Austen's "Pride and Prejudice", we hope we will have the privilege of seeing another fine type of 'talkie'.

Morris Bullock of Barnwell is in the district visiting friends and relatives.

The senior class in Mutual went to Magrath in a body to attend the Stake senior party.

Messrs. Phil Baker, Les. Chipman, Spencer Wilde, C. D. Peterson and Karl Williams attended the Scout School in Magrath and Raymond.

The dust laden air reminds us that March has indeed 'come in like a lion.' What we wonder is will it be as fierce the whole

News Notes

It won't be long now "THE GOLDDIGGERS OF 1933" coming to the Capitol March 19th 20th and 21st.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Rodeback on Saturday, March 3rd, a baby girl. Mother and babe are doing nicely.

The skiff of snow that fell here early Sunday morning hardly reached as far as Magrath, and Cardston only had a few scattered flakes.

Mr. and Mrs. Arlo Palmer of Wrentham were here the first part of the week. Earl Scoville returned with Arlo to do some missionary work in the Wrentham district.

Police Magistrate J. W. Low Ellis of Magrath were here Tuesday of Cardston, and Constable sday afternoon, when the Magistrate listened to a number of minor cases.

Don't forget the game Monday night between the Jacks and Olson's Terrible Swedes. This will likely be the most outstanding exhibition of ball handling ever witnessed on a local floor. Tickets are on sale at the usual place.

thirty-one days. We hope that it will soon lose its violence so that the summerfallow will at least stay where it belongs instead of reposing in the houses.
